

The Intercultural Communication Institute

Summer Institute for Intercultural Communication (SIIC) New Interculturalists Program (NIC)

Designed for those interested in a glimpse of SIIC behind the scenes, the New Interculturalists Program begins just before Session I, and offers an Institute immersion experience, an introduction to the field of intercultural relations, and an exploration of professional opportunities. All New Interculturalists will also attend workshops where they will work closely with faculty in a support capacity. This is an opportunity to not only see behind the scenes but also be behind the scenes at SIIC and gain considerable insight into what drives the field and those who are actively engaged in it.

Ideal candidates for this program are recent college graduates interested in testing whether intercultural work is right for them, those considering intercultural graduate school, or professionals shifting from another field into intercultural careers.

Participants will have the opportunity to:

- Learn how to become more deeply engaged in intercultural training, research, and education
- Examine career options for using intercultural knowledge and skills
- Review core concepts in intercultural relations, including the history of the field
- Be a part of the team that implements the Summer Institute

Through a mixture of discussion, presentation, exercises, and service to SIIC, New Interculturalists will experience both the theory and practice of intercultural relations. This is one of two SIIC programs with a formal selection procedure, and enrollment is limited so participants can receive more personal attention.

What are the dates of the New Interculturalists Program?

The dates for this year are July 8-15, 2018

When are the deadlines?

The deadline for international applicants needing visas is Friday, April 27, 2018. All other applications will be accepted until Friday, June , 2018. Occasionally we are able to accept late applications under special circumstances; please check with us.

What are the costs?

New Interculturalists pay reduced tuition, room, and board in exchange for their assistance at SIIC. The total cost for the New Interculturalists Program (tuition and room and board) is $1650.

What does that include?

- Two workshops: One 3-day workshop during Session I and one 1-day workshop during the Sample of SIIC.
- Housing (arriving on July 8th and departing July 15th): To help facilitate group cohesion, all NICS stay on campus. They are housed with other NICS of the same gender in semi-private double-rooms. A semi-private double has two beds in one large room divided by a partition wall. Rooms are in modern residence halls with same-gender shared bathrooms.
- All meals during the program
- Evening programs, socials, and NICS-centered activities

How and when will I know if I am selected?

The faculty committee reviews all applications in May and will inform you of their decision by early June. (International applicants will receive earlier notification.)

If I am selected, what should I do next?

Make your travel arrangements! The SIIC New Interculturalists Program is July 8-15, 2018. Interculturalists should arrive no later than 5:00 p.m. Sunday evening, July 8th, and depart no sooner than Sunday morning, July 15th.

The address of Reed College is 3203 SE Woodstock Blvd., Portland, Oregon 97202. The Portland International Airport (airport code PDX) serves Portland.

More detailed information and directions will be provided later.

How do I apply?
